

XXXII^e COURS DE
DERMATOLOGIE PEDIATRIQUE

1ST ARCACHON EUROPEAN COURSE
OF PEDIATRIC DERMATOLOGY

Course of Pediatric Dermatology, Arcachon, 26-29 April 2011 Moving Towards Europe

Arcachon is a beautiful sandy bay with the famous Pyla dune at its entrance, about 1hour by train or car from Bordeaux. The Arcachon Course of Pediatric Dermatology was founded in 1977 by professors Marc Larrègue and Jean Maleville.

The 32nd course is in preparation for 2011. This course, which lasts four days, is still held in the week following Easter, Tuesday to Friday. It has been held since its renovation in the Palais des Congrès d'Arcachon. This French course is designed for dermatologists and paediatricians in training (internal and senior registrars) or as a continuing medical education instrument, for all who want access to advanced training in the speciality.

From 2008, the last day of the course, under the auspices of the European GENESKIN network, was given to English and from 2011, the course is European, with two days in English and will be sponsored by the EADV.

The themes have a rotation which varies according to topicality and importance of the subject, but a 4-year cycle provides a fairly comprehensive overview of dermatology of the child. Most aspects of paediatric dermatology are typically covered over a cycle of 4 to 5 years within the Course, around transverse themes (e.g mast cell-allergy) or disease-oriented topics, typically according to a one day or half day format. Basic science principles are integrated, and the Course format favours interdisciplinary exchanges with speakers of various specialities interacting with paediatrics and dermatology.

The programme of the next course will focus on skin infections, autoimmune-autoinflammatory diseases, epidermolysis bullosa and wound healing, neonatology and hair and nails.

We look forward to welcome you in the beautiful Arcachon bay next year

Alain Taïeb and Pierre Vabres
